

FATHERS AND MOTHERS SHOULD BE CHURCHES OF CHILDREN, SAYS MILLER

First Step in Fight Against Vice is to Start the Boys and Girls Right, Social Hygiene Worker Tells the Good Government Club; Purpose of the Club and Its Policy is Outlined By President Campbell.

LET the story of the functions of life come from a clean source; let fathers become the churches of their sons and mothers the churches of their daughters, and the young people of the country will grow up with pure minds and with a proper conception of the functions of life.

Thus spoke Mr. John T. Miller, connected with social hygiene work in Los Angeles, members of the Good Government club at the meeting held Sunday afternoon at the First Christian church.

"In the work you are about to undertake here," Mr. Miller said, "you must not overlook the educational work, the work of guiding the young. From long observation, I am convinced that the work must start in childhood. You must stamp out obscenity that pollutes the minds of children; you must start them right early in life or it will be difficult later in life for them to avoid the pitfalls of perverted ideas of the functions of the sexual nature."

Very few fathers talk to their sons, and the result is that the minds of so many boys become perverted. "In Los Angeles we have not totally eliminated prostitution, but we feel greatly encouraged over the results. The sentiment is strong against segregation and against open prostitution, and progress is being made."

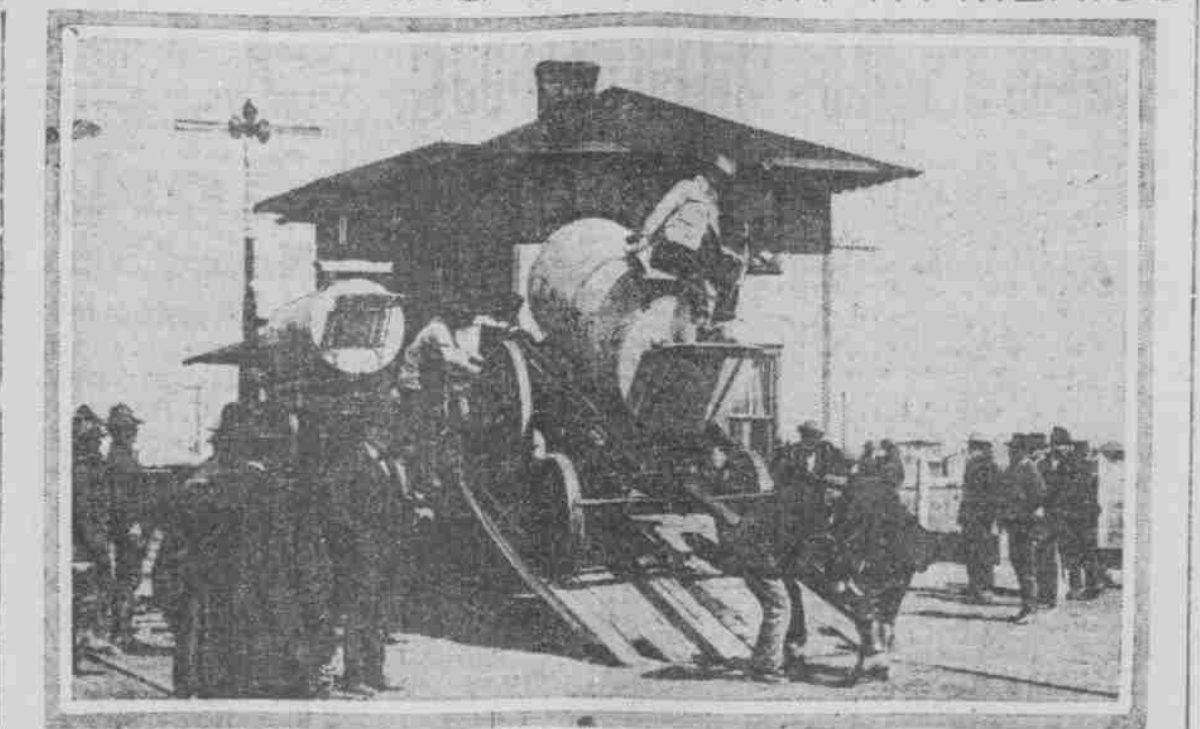

J. L. Campbell, recently elected president of the Good Government club, at the beginning of the meeting set forth the purposes and policies of the club. The purposes, he stated, are the permanent abolition of the segregated district; the suppression of open prostitution; and the advancement of the moral welfare of the community.

"Non-Partisan, Non-Sectarian." The policy of the club is that it shall be non-partisan and non-sectarian. Action for or against party and faction, creed and sect, shall be avoided. It shall be educational, co-operative and constructive, mature and deliberate; it will support good government.

The club will cooperate with and support the public servants to accomplish the purposes of the organization, and independent action will be taken whenever such is necessary to the attainment of the purposes of the organization.

Moral Sentiment Growing. Mr. Campbell called attention to the fact that the removal of the segregated district had been accomplished by the action of the supreme court. He spoke of the growth of moral sentiment in the community, beginning several years ago with the abolition of open gambling and declared that 25, 35 and possibly 50 years ago it would have been impossible to hold a meeting as was now being held, because of the strong sentiment against segregation was the solution of the problem of the prostitute in the city. Now, he declared, there is a strong sentiment against the acknowledgment that prostitution must be suppressed by existing and a sentiment that open prostitution must cease to exist in El Paso.

Nettlesome Tells of the Law. J. H. Nettlesome, city attorney, talked briefly on the laws for the suppression of prostitution. The state law, he stated, forbids the living in adultery.

X-Ray Photos Cheaper; Discovery Will Also Tell If Child Was Born Alive

Paris, France, April 18.—Charles Vaillant, head of the radiographic laboratory of the Lariboliere hospital in Paris, has announced a successful means of replacing the present costly process of X-ray photographing on a glass negative with printing directly on to paper.

The new process uses ordinary sensitized paper for taking radiograph photographs. The cost of the paper is only a twentieth of that of the glass negative, and there is also a saving in weight and space.

Vaillant has only three fingers left out of ten. The rest of his fingers he lost, one after the other, by holding them at the end of a tube thus trying on himself the penetrative effects of the radium rays. Repeated amputation, however, did not lessen Vaillant's enthusiasm. He is already the discoverer of a radiographic method of determining whether or not an infant was born dead or alive.

The infant born dead comes out on the negative completely dark, whereas its having uttered a cry, or lived an instant, an hour, or ten hours, is proved by the development on the plate first of the stomach and then of the lungs. The practical result is that infanticide can now be detected without recourse to an autopsy.
